

SENATORS FIGHT ALL NIGHT OVER "PORK BAR" BILL

Burton Leads Filibuster and Continuous Session Is Held. President Said to Favor Cut.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—In a desperate effort to break down the opponents of the river and harbor bill carrying an appropriation of $3,000,000, the Senate Democrats forced an all-night session.

A report that the President has indicated a desire for a bill not to exceed $2,000,000 was a bomb shell among friends of the measure in the Senate today.

One prominent Senator, who has played a large part in fighting for the bill, declared that the President would have to veto the bill or sign it as passed by the Senate, and that any effort which the White House might make at this time towards shaping the bill came too late to be effective.

BURTON'S DETERMINED FIGHT.

Senator Burton held the floor from 5:55 Friday night until 4:05 this morning. In that period of 12 hours and 10 minutes four hours and a half were consumed in recitals and various interruptions.

Shortly after 5 this morning Senator Kenyon took the floor and held it with interruptions for quorum calls until 9:40. At that hour there was a call for a quorum and about 10 o'clock Senator Burton, who had had an hour's sleep and breakfast, resumed his seat.

Whenever it was possible during the long and exhausting session the filibuster demanded a quorum call and the speaker enjoyed brief rests. Several times calls for a quorum failed to develop a sufficient number of Senators.

The determined effort to wear Burton and his friends out was best illustrated just after Burton surrendered the floor temporarily at 9 o'clock this morning. He was attempting to get over to his office for a nap when arrested by a deputy sergeant-at-arms, and held before the Senate to help constitute a quorum.

Senator Williams whistles. In the intervals between the call for a quorum and the completion of the call, the chamber was practically deserted.

Senator Burton forced a vote on a motion to recommit the bill with instructions to strike out many of the items. The vote showed 41 to 7 against the motion to recommit.

After Senator Kenyon took the floor this morning, he forced a call for a quorum and during the wait Senator Randall proposed that the sergeant-at-arms be directed to request the attendance of all Senators now out of the city, as the earlier orders had applied only to those in the city.

CONFERENCE ON CHARITIES

Catholic Bodies to Convene in Washington on Sunday. WASHINGTON, Sept. 18.—Delegates from 20 parts of the United States arrived here today for the third biennial meeting of the national conference of Catholic charities which will be opened at the Catholic University tomorrow.

The all-night filibuster was the first continuous night session since the "Justice" resolution last spring when the Mexican situation was before the Senate. Burton's filibuster rivaled in length and tenacity the famous 17-hour speech of Senator La Follette several years ago.

J. J. HILL ADVISES CAUTION

Business People Should Be Prudent In View of War. ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 18.—James J. Hill, when asked as to the probable effect of the European war on general business conditions, replied that he was not a prophet or the son of a prophet, but he advised the people to be prudent and careful, and not to bite off more than they could chew.

PHILA. AUTOISTS HURT AS CAR DROPS THROUGH BRIDGE

Injured In an Accident That Occurred Near Scranton.

Four Philadelphians were injured yesterday afternoon, when a touring car broke through the planks of a bridge spanning a creek between Glen Home and Daleville, six miles east of Scranton. They are: Mrs. W. H. Walls, said to live at 225 North 23d street, left arm broken; John A. Green, of 21st and Westmoreland streets, right ankle sprained and severe bruises and burns; Miss May Green, niece of Mr. Green, right wrist sprained and severe bruises; S. P. Mullins, son of a Philadelphia hotel proprietor, who sustained fractures of three ribs.

The party was making a trip from the Pocono Mountains to Scranton in a touring car, said to weigh 5000 pounds, which proved too heavy for the bridge where the accident occurred. The planking gave way and the car overturned, all but Mullins being pinned beneath it. He succeeded in getting the two women out and was trying to help Green, when help came with the arrival of another car. The injured were taken to Scranton on a Lackawanna train last night.

HIS OCCUPATION GONE, PRINCE OSKAR'S CHEF BEGINS LAND VOYAGE

Adorned With Trophies From Fatherland, Joseph Westemeier Starts on Long Deferred Visit to Brother in Ohio.

Joseph Westemeier, the chef-in-chief aboard the steamship Prinz Oskar, left the ship today.

He is going to visit a brother in Hoytville, Ohio. He has not seen the brother for years because the chief was too busy to make calls in the States so far from the seaboard.

The Prinz Oskar has her mud anchors out near the League Island navy yard. Being a German liner with a decidedly Teutonic name, the Prinz Oskar is taking no chances by going to sea.

The officers and crew of the ship were hopeful of making a home port under the protection of a German gunboat.

DODGES BRITISH WARSHIPS.

Then came the news that the Essex and other cruisers of the British navy were picking up German ships. The Prinz Oskar sailed down the river then and cast her mud hooks under the friendly guns of the navy yard.

CHEF IN FULL UNIFORM.

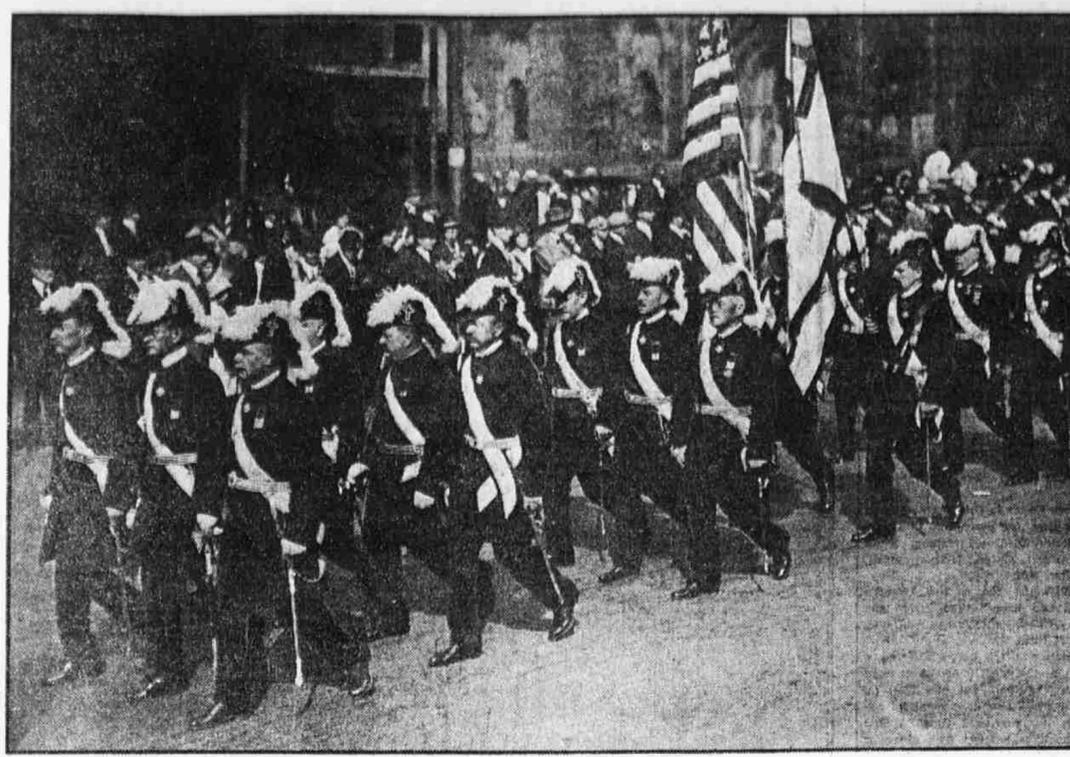

Chief Westemeier wore his ship's uniform with a few decorations. His belt was trimmed with prongs from the antlers of deer. The buckle bore the picture of the late King Ludwig II, of Bavaria. It was surrounded with delicate work.

When the Prinz Oskar anchored for a rest during the war season, Chief Westemeier became disgruntled. He longed to hear the pounding of the engines and he longed to get back to his ovens and frying pans.

There was no one aboard ship who could appreciate his art. He took off his white cap and apron and turned the kitchen and soup kettles over to the scullery boy.

He then put on his edgeweils and deer horn scenery and started west to remake the acquaintance and impress his brother with his importance.

KNIGHT TEMPLARS ON WAY TO PRAY FOR PEACE

50,000 INVOKE PEACE ON THE FIELD DAY OF KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

Impressive Scene on Belmont Plateau Mark Annual Drill of Pennsylvania Division No. 1.

More than 50,000 heads were bared or bowed today on the Belmont Plateau when prayers, some audible and some breathed out in silence, were offered for the restoration of peace in Europe.

The Templars of the Pennsylvania Division No. 1 decided upon the petition for Divine Interference in the war when President Wilson by a proclamation asked the people of the United States to pray for peace. The Templars opened their fourteenth Field Day with the prayer.

In brilliant uniforms with hands clasped across the hilts of their swords and heads bared the Knights made a striking picture in the strong sunlight on the plateau. Beneath the trees and from high vantage spots thousands of persons gazed on reverently.

Major Blankenburg, himself a Knight Templar, Governor Tener, R. E. Sir A. Howard Thomas, Grand Commander of Pennsylvania, and his staff, in addition to many other guests and prominent Knights Templar from New York, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and other cities, attended the ceremony.

The eleven commanderies of Philadelphia and vicinity which participated in the military review and prayer assembled at the Masonic Temple at 1 o'clock, and from there were taken to Fairmount Park in special trains from Broad Street Station. After reaching the Belmont Plateau the commanderies lined up in military formation and the ceremonies were opened by the firing of a salute to the national colors.

The knights then were drawn up for inspection and a dress parade, preparatory to the main feature, the offering of the prayer. The dress parade was held in honor of Sir A. Howard Thomas, Grand Commander of Pennsylvania, Division Commander E. Sir Thomas Patton led the parade and headed the picturesque columns during the inspection. He was accompanied by the following staff, all of whom were mounted: Eminent Sirs J. Henry Williams, Harry H. Heist, James D. Kelly, A. Lincoln Castle, Thomas Hiddle Ellis, John E. Wiley, James A. Parks, W. Frederick Kendrick, Francis J. Callanan, George J. Schaeffer, J. Vander McMillan, Eugene J. McAleer, William H. Manly.

The knights were under the command of Sir Knight James Robinson, of Corinthian Commandery, as field adjutant, assisted by Sir Knight William M. Matos, of Mary Commandery, No. 28, assistant field adjutant, Eminent Sir Hayes H. Duncan, of St. John's Commandery, No. 4, as field officer of the day, had complete charge of the grounds.

Corinthian "Chasseur" Commandery, the only mounted commandery of Knights Templar in Pennsylvania, had several hundred mounted men in the review. This commandery acted as escort to Grand Commander Thomas and his staff. One of the features of the parade and maneuvers was the first appearance of a strictly Knights Templar band of about 80 men, equipped in full Templar uniform, who rendered the musical program. This band will give a special concert tonight, when the events will be closed by a fireworks display.

The following commanderies participated in the events: Philadelphia, No. 2, E. Sir William B. St. John's, No. 4, E. Sir Thomas J. S. Naylor, commandery, E. Sir William M. Matos, commandery, No. 28, E. Sir James E. M. Keller, commandery, No. 47, E. Sir Joseph H. Noble, commandery, Corinthian "Chasseur," No. 53, E. Sir Louis H. Groh, commandery, No. 79, E. Sir Alexander Affairs, commandery, Germantown, No. 82, E. Sir J. Elgie Ross, commandery, Chester, No. 66, of Chester, Pa., E. Sir Henry L. Goff, commandery, Brandywine, No. 30, of West Chester, E. Sir Nathan E. Jardine, commandery, Kensington, No. 54, E. Sir Eli M. Crawley, commandery.

MAIL INSURANCE FEE FIXED

Burleson Orders Five-Cent Charge on Fourth Class Mail.

A five-cent insurance fee for fourth-class mail has been fixed by Postmaster General Burleson in an order received here today providing that mail of this class shall not be registered. Another provision of the order is that indemnity will not be allowed in case of loss of fourth class mail addressed to the Philippine Islands unless the loss occurs in the postal service of the United States. The order becomes effective at once.

The photographs show the men marching to Belmont Plateau, where they asked Divine intercession to end the European war. The leader on horse back in the lower picture is Eminent Sir Louis H. Groh, commander of Corinthian "chasseur," the only mounted commandery in the State.

ORANG-OUTANGS PASS CENSORSHIP AT ZOO

Villa and Sylvia Declared Free of Tubercular Infection.

Villa, of Borneo, and his mate Sylvia, the orang-outangs purchased by the Zoological Garden a little less than two months ago, have now passed the health censor at the Zoo and are regular members of society there. Although members of the higher ape families are difficult to raise in this climate, authorities at the Zoo now believe that this pair will live at least five years.

The animals were purchased from Louis Rhue, a New York animal dealer, who got them from the engineer and boatwain of a tramp steamship. They came to the local Zoo June 22, and were immediately isolated for observation. Such animals are specially susceptible to tubercular infection, but Dr. Herbert Fox, the Zoo pathologist, is now assured that Villa and Sylvia are sound of lung.

The orang-outangs will be placed on exhibition with the chimpanzee about October 1. Villa, the male, is equipped with a coat of coarse red, brown and black hair, while Sylvia's coat is of the same coloring, but finer.

Superintendent Carson, of the Zoo, is surrounding the pair with every safeguard to prevent a repetition of what happened at the Bronx Zoo, in New York, where the entire collection was wiped out by tuberculosis. In addition to being perfectly matched as to size, the orangs are well mated and so far their domestic affairs have not been marred by a single "scrap." The exact sum paid for the pair has not been divulged, but is said to be high. Each animal is two years old. The formation of their hands and finger-nails compares well with the human hand.

"JOKER" SENDS FALSE ALARMS

Six Companies Summoned to Fake Fire Early This Morning.

Practical jokers, who have been turning in false alarms at various fire boxes in the Kensington section, will receive no mercy if caught by the police. The practice has been going on for the last few weeks, and the police and fire companies of that district have become desperate, declaring that a false alarm rung in at the Barker-Adams Company's box on Allegheny avenue, east of Richmond street, this morning is the last straw.

The call was registered at 4:57 this morning, and six engine companies responded—two trucks, two battalion chiefs, one truck and one chemical engine—but found that there was neither trace of fire nor of the perpetrator of the so-called joke.

Photos of War Action and Peace Maneuvers in Sunday's Intaglio

Just now it's interesting to compare American preparedness with European fighting efficiency. You will see examples of both in Sunday's Intaglio—scenes on foreign battlefields and the serious business of putting our own house in order as shown by camera shots of the recent maneuvers at League Island.

You'll be interested, too, in the Intaglio's portrait studies of Ambassadors, prominent political candidates and other national figures, society men and women at the Newport Horse Show and familiar faces that smile upon you as the curtain goes up this season.

In the Sporting Magazine George E. McLinn presents "A Baseball Understudy," contributed by the game's most successful cross-fire south-paw, Eddie Plank. William H. Rocap tells who he thinks was the best featherweight, and why. Parke H. Davis, of the Intercollegiate Rules Committee, gives a football talk on the playing code for 1914. "Ty" Cobb shows the pay-envelope side of baseball.
